

Abstract

The invention relates to the polypeptide COM and its derivatives, and methods for its preparation and recovery in a pure or partially purified form from body fluids and tissues, and its use as a medicament.